A photograph of a modern bar interior. The scene is illuminated by warm, golden light from numerous string lights hanging from the ceiling. A long, dark bar counter runs across the middle of the frame, with several high-top stools with dark leather seats and metal frames lined up in front of it. Behind the bar, a large wall is covered with shelves displaying a wide variety of liquor bottles. To the left, a wall features a decorative pattern of white birds. The floor is made of dark wood with a herringbone pattern. The overall atmosphere is cozy and sophisticated.
